

What are Pacing Guides?

Pacing guides are documents that detail when a specific standard should be taught or assessed.

- ◆ Pacing guides allow teachers flexibility in how to deliver their content standards while keeping instruction across the district at roughly the same place at the same time.
- ◆ Pacing guides allow teachers to collaborate when they plan and share resources. Common pacing allows students to transfer throughout the district without instructional gaps.

Our district teachers and educational specialist work together in committees to interpret the standards provided by the state.

These committees determine the most appropriate ways to group standards into units and how to pace them by six weeks grading periods.

The documents on this web page:

- ◆ Six Weeks Pacing Charts that detail units being taught each grading period.
- ◆ Subject Area Pacing Guides that provide detailed information on the standards being taught and the resources that are available.
