Our social studies curriculum is designed to help children understand cultural diversity and their place in the global community, with an emphasis in third grade on geography.

✓ The curriculum includes grade-specific content standards and social studies literacy skills that span the grade levels.

✓ These skills include

- interpreting calendars, timelines, maps, charts, tables, and graphs;

- using tables and graphs to interpret geographic trends and relationships;

- considering multiple perspectives of documents and stories;

- challenging illogical arguments such as name calling, personal attacks, and insinuation; and

- gathering and processing information from a variety of primary and secondary sources.

✓ Correlation of social studies and language arts instruction occurs frequently through the use of supplementary literature and integrated writing assignments.
